It was never the intention of Mercury One to reinvent the wheel. It was never that we were going to be the ones that were on the front lines...Mercury One was there just to be the person in the back saying,

‘WHAT DO YOU NEED?’

Because we know that local people, that individuals, that churches, that small organizations that are impacted on the ground... we know that - they can do it much better than us...

THEY JUST NEED HELP!
- GLENN BECK

DISASTER RELIEF

Mercury One works closely with our partners on the ground to provide emergency relief during natural disasters. In 2018, Mercury One provided $740,000 in grants and sponsorships to partnering agencies as they served those in need.

The California Wildfires in 2018 destroyed tens of thousands of homes and killed at least 85 people leaving a devastating disaster in its wake. Our partners, including Somebody Cares, Operation BBQ, Gleaning for the World, and CitImpact Ministries, were on the ground assisting those in need. Mercury One funded $55,000 of their operations. We’re grateful to have partners who work to uplift the human spirit and provide food, water, and supplies to those who are suffering.

Hurricane Florence and Michael — Mercury One worked with our long-term partners, including Team Rubicon, Operation BBQ Relief, Operation Blessing, and several others, to assist the victims of these historic hurricanes. The flooding and destruction was unprecedented. Mercury One sent more than $445,000 to our partners so they could be the first ones in and the last ones out.
In 2018, Mercury One hosted the Rights and Responsibilities Popup Museum in Irving, Texas. More than 2,600 people visited the exhibit featuring artifacts from U.S. history. The museum focused on the Bill of Rights and the responsibilities that Americans have to defend those rights. Our founding fathers stood with virtue and self-reflection. The museum's underlying theme asked if we, as a nation, still agree on these core principles and values, and if so, how can we move forward if we don't first have a base understanding and agreement of what our principles and values hold.

In addition to the popup museum, Mercury One's Education programs include a Leadership Training and Teacher Training Program. This year, more than 100 individuals came to the institute to get an in-depth look at U.S. history at the good, the bad, and the ugly. These programs emphasize the true history of our nation and inspire the upcoming generations to learn from our past and improve the future.

Mercury One also continues to sponsor High School Day at the Dallas Film Lab, allowing 500+ students to learn and grow in the field of film and cinema. Film is a vital part of the American Journey and is an ever-increasing way to communicate a message to the world. We're proud to partner with the Dallas Film Society.
Mercury One partnered with multiple humanitarian aid organizations that provided services to veterans, victims of human trafficking, family violence, and poverty. With the help of our generous donors, Mercury One has given out more than $1.2 million in humanitarian aid, providing services to more than 15,000 individuals. Below are a few organizations we assisted in 2018:

OPERATION UNDERGROUND RAILROAD

Operation Underground Railroad’s mission is to save children and seek justice for those who victimize them. O.U.R. is committed to enhancing law enforcement efforts by providing resources where budget shortfalls prohibit a child pornography, child exploitation, or human-trafficking-operation from going forward. Mercury One partners with O.U.R to support the programs that protect the most vulnerable in our communities and stop modern day slavery.

S.M. WRIGHT FOUNDATION

The S.M. Wright Foundation’s mission is to provide support and stability to underprivileged children and less fortunate families through hunger relief, economic empowerment, and assistance in the areas of education, health, and social services. Mercury One provided funds to their Christmas in the Park, Community Food Center, and Beds for Kids program. Together with our donors, Mercury One and S.M. Wright Foundation can “continue to make our communities a better place to live and can continue to develop programs that address the educational and social needs of our community.”

RECOVERY RESOURCE COUNCIL

Recovery Resource Council is an organization dedicated to the prevention, intervention and treatment of alcohol, substance use disorder, and behavioral health issues. Mercury One supports their Enduring Families Veterans Program with grant money to provide out-patient counseling and support services for returning military veterans and their family members. This program targets the veteran family’s unique needs ranging from coping with symptoms of PTSD, depression, anxiety and addiction to teaching effective decision-making, parenting, and communication skills.

HOPE’S DOOR

Mercury One recognizes the impact of violence in the lives of those in our community and funds organizations like Hope’s Door - New Beginning Center. This organization helps individuals and families escape and heal from domestic abuse, dating abuse, and family violence through trauma-informed counseling services, transitional housing, and two crisis shelters. Mercury One grants to HDNBC in 2018 allowed more than 800 individuals to receive services.
